'Truth' Campaign Is Planned

TRUMAN ASKS CO-OPERATION OF U.S. PAPERS

By ERNEST B. VACCARO—WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—President Truman disclosed plans today for a "great campaign of truth" to convince the world the United States has "no purpose of going to war except in defense of freedom."

He told the American Society of Newspaper Editors he has directed Secretary of State Acheson to develop a strengthened National Information program to overcome Soviet Russia "deceit, distortion and lies."

He invited the continued co-operation of American newspapers in spreading the fact that this country is "wholly dedicated to the cause of peace." Truman declared: "We must make ourselves known as we really are—not as Communists propaganda pictures us. We must pool our efforts with those of the other free peoples in a sustained, intensified program to promote the cause of freedom against the propaganda of slavery."

"We must make ourselves heard around the world in a great campaign of truth."

The president's address, prepared for delivery at a luncheon, stressed the vital role newspapers can play in this phase of the cold war.

"There is too much nonsense about striped trousers in foreign affairs," he said.

"Far more influence is exerted by the baggy pants of the managing editor."

Jury Considering L. W. Fraley Fate In Murder Trial

By F. MOORE—DAILY NEWS STAFF

A district court jury was considering its verdict in the L. W. Fraley murder trial today at 10 a. m. in the district court at press hour Thursday afternoon.

The case went to the jury at noon following the conclusion of the arguments of the attorneys.

Fraley, a 77-year-old Blooming Grove resident, is being tried in connection with the slaying of W. H. Hollifield, a neighbor of Blooming Grove last August 8, following a dispute over a 26-foot strip of land. A previous trial last January resulted in a hung jury.

Fraley and his wife were indicted. The defendant testified he shot at Hollifield with a pistol and his wife fired a shotgun blast at the defense. Evidence showed pellets from a shotgun caused death.

The state rested at 9:05 a. m. Thursday when the third day of the trial opened and John Fraley, son of the defendant, was recalled. He related a conversation with Seth Grang, Blooming Grove city mar-

14 New Cases Of Polio Reported During Past Week

AUSTIN, April 20.—(AP)—Fourteen new cases of poliomyelitis were reported during the past week by Texas to 313 cases, the state health department has reported.

The incidence showed an eight-case reduction in figures for the week previous.

Counties reporting new cases were Anderson 1, Aransas 2, Cameron 1, Galveston 1, Harris 1, Hidalgo 1, McLennan 1, Potter 1, and Tarrant 1.

Tom Green county reported no new cases for the third straight week but still retained the state's top polio county of the year. It has reported 68 cases, the report said. Other counties with more than 10 cases this year are Hidalgo 58, Harris 43, Tarrant 17 and Cameron 11.

Multi-Billion Dollar Housing Bill Signed By Truman Without Comment

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—President Truman today signed the multi-billion dollar housing bill.

The measure, which he approved without comment, provides incentives for home building by families of low and moderate incomes but lacks the controversial co-operative plan which he proposed.

Both the senate and the house rejected the co-op provision. It would have set up a $2,000,000,000 program of home building through co-ops and other non-profit groups.

The measure provides for an expansion of almost $4,000,000,000 in the federal housing program through loans and mortgage guarantees.

It also provides for turning over to state, county and local housing authorities nearly 150 war-built housing projects now under control of the public housing administration. There are about 49,000 units in the projects.

Railway Firemen Schedule Strike Next Wednesday

CHICAGO, April 20.—(AP)—A strike against four of the nation's biggest railroad systems, threatening to slow all rail transportation, has been called for next Wednesday morning.

The strike call by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen ordered some 18,000 members to leave their jobs at 6 a. m. (local time, April 20). Union spokesmen said the walkout would make idle some 50,000 rail workers.

The threatened strike followed nearly three years of dispute between the union and the carriers over union demands for a second man on multiple unit Diesel locomotives.

The union is free to strike at any time, having complied with all provisions of the National Railway Labor Act. But the possibility of a postponement was hinted in a statement by Union President David B. Robertson, who announced the strike call. He said in the statement (the railroads) feel some progress is being made toward settlement.

Nationalists Rush Reinforcements To Hainan Conflict

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 20.—(AP)—Chinese Nationalists rushed reinforcements today to their embattled forces on Hainan Island. Red troops of Gen. Lin Piao, the "Maoist" leader, and defense forces under Gen. Hsueh Yueh, the "Little Tiger," were locked in bitter fighting for the fourth straight day.

Both sides agreed this was the Reds' big attempt to take the key South China Island 10 miles from Luzhou peninsula.

Some Nationalists said their hopes for survival and an eventual comeback against the Chinese Communists hinge largely on the outcome.

Reports here said well-equipped Nationalist troops were on the way to Hainan. The Nationalists, who control the air and sea around Hainan, threw in more planes Wednesday. These roared right into the island and reported they knocked out some Red beachhead gun batteries.

City Condems Duren Property

Members of the city commission today concurred with the findings of the condemnation board and issued an order condemning property on West Tenth avenue owned by Mrs. George A. Duren, Dallas.

This order followed a condemnation hearing held at a meeting of the city commission Tuesday.

The order stipulates the owner must start to repair or tear down the building on the property within 10 days from the date of the order. If such action isn't taken, the city is authorized to tear down and remove the objectionable building.

The order was drawn by City Atty. Julius Jacobs and City Secretary J. Preston Welch was ordered to send a copy of the order to Mrs. Duren.

The property is described as the east 40 feet of lot 3 and all of lot 4, block 334.

However, a railroad spokesman, Daniel B. Loomis, chairman of the Association of Western Railways, said: "Despite the strike threat, the railroads will stick to their decision of refusing to grant the make-work demands of the union x x x strike or no strike, no additional firemen will be employed on Diesel electric locomotives, which have no fires to tend."

In Washington, chairman Francis A. O'Neill, Jr., of the National (railway) mediation board, said he would discuss the situation today with the White House, meaning presidential assistant John R. Steelman.

threatened a veto if that were not done.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) explained action now being taken is tentative, and the group may come back to the various items to make more changes.

Here's what the committee did today:

1. Kept the manufacturers' excise on autos, motorcycles, buses, truck tractors, parts or accessories, tires and tubes. But it excluded from these excises tires for baby buggies, toys and such things as electric lawn mowers. The excises are 7 per cent at the manufacturers level, on automobiles and motorcycles; 5 per cent on trucks and buses; 5 per cent on parts and accessories; 5 cents a pound on innertubes, 5 cents a pound on tires.
2. Left unchanged the 10 per cent rate on electric gas, and all cook stoves and water heaters of the household type. The tax on electric fans not of the household type, electric heating pads and blankets. The tax also would be lifted. The 10 per cent levy on other electric, gas and oil appliances would be retained.
3. Voted to knock out the 20 per cent levy on electric light bulbs and tubes.
4. Voted to retain the 6 cents a gallon levy on lubricating oils.

Livestock Field Day Attended By Classes Of Vets

Veterans agriculture classes of Navarro county attended a livestock field day at Blumebonnet Farm, McGregor, Texas, on Wednesday, April 19.

The classes spent the morning touring the farm to get a picture of the experimental work being conducted there.

Of particular interest to the group were projects being carried on to determine the "gaining ability" of animals sired by various bulls. Other points of interest were test plots on legumes, grasses, and small grains to determine their adaptability in a livestock feeding program.

The afternoon was spent sitting in on talks by specialists in the field of livestock research. Among the speakers was Dr. J. C. Miller, head of the Department of animal husbandry at Texas A. & M. College.

The Blumebonnet farm, a substation of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, contains about 17,500 acres of land.

Crop Rotation Found Effective Root Rot Curb

TEMPLE, April 20.—(AP)—The Blackland experiment station near here has found that a spectacular decrease in cotton root rot and increase in cotton yield can be brought about by rotation of crops on poor and very poor land. The report points out that the results of the tests will be valuable in selecting the most profitable farm where cotton will be planted this year under acreage restrictions.

Class III Tests.

In the case of Class III, or very poor land, crop rotation results were spectacular—ranging in increased yield from 5 to 8 times compared with land in continuous cotton. The rotation also reduced the incidence of root rot from 80.1 per cent to as low as 8.9 per cent.

On Class II land, the yield was increased from 50 to 100 per cent and root rot reduced from 43.1 per cent to as low as 1.5 per cent.

The experimenters found only a limited improvement in Class I, or good land.

The cropping studies are for 1948 and 1949. Last year, the report points out, was one in which a great deal of root rot occurred.

Results Tentative.

The experiment station says that the studies have not been in operation long enough to tell what their true long-time effects may be.

However, on the basis of the

Corbett Certain Suspension Will Be Lifted Soon

EL PASO, April 20.—(AP)—President Jack Corbett of the El Paso club in the Arizona-Texas League today is confident his indefinite suspension from baseball will be a short one.

Wednesday, George M. Trautman, president of the minor leagues, fined the Class C club $1,000 and suspended Corbett for defying rules of the National Association.

Center of all the fuss is Ventura Morales, an outfielder, who played against Phoenix in El Paso's opener. Trautman said Morales was not qualified to play because he still was under contract to the Mexican League.

But Corbett came back with the statement that he "completed purchase of Morales from the Arilla club at Vera Cruz, Mexico" 10 hours before the game.

In Columbus, Trautman's office said it had received no notification of the deal.

Corbett said:

"As soon as he (Trautman) finds out that I have purchased Morales and that when this sale is confirmed to him the suspension will be lifted and fine voided."

A lot of people are thinking about that vacation they'll get this summer.

And a lot of them are figuring on taking a fishing trip.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service takes a happy view of this line of thought.

The government agency in a recent gleeful statement pointed out that the popularity of freshwater fishing in the U. S. last year reached a record high.

Albert M. Day, director of the service, reported that sales of anglers' licenses last year amounted to 15,478,570 and that revenue from these sales was $32,657,940.

Of this amount Texans contributed $301,671. That was for 299,409 resident licenses and 5,239 non-resident licenses, or a total of 298,648 licenses.

Mexico is joining with the U. S. in the 16th annual inventory of North American waterfowl resources. Important wintering grounds from Alaska to Guatemala are covered in the population estimate.

Ing. Luis Macias A., chief of the Mexican game department, is heading Mexico's efforts in this survey.

Most of Mexico's best waterfowl wintering grounds are so inaccessible to hunters, that they constitute excellent natural refuge for the birds.

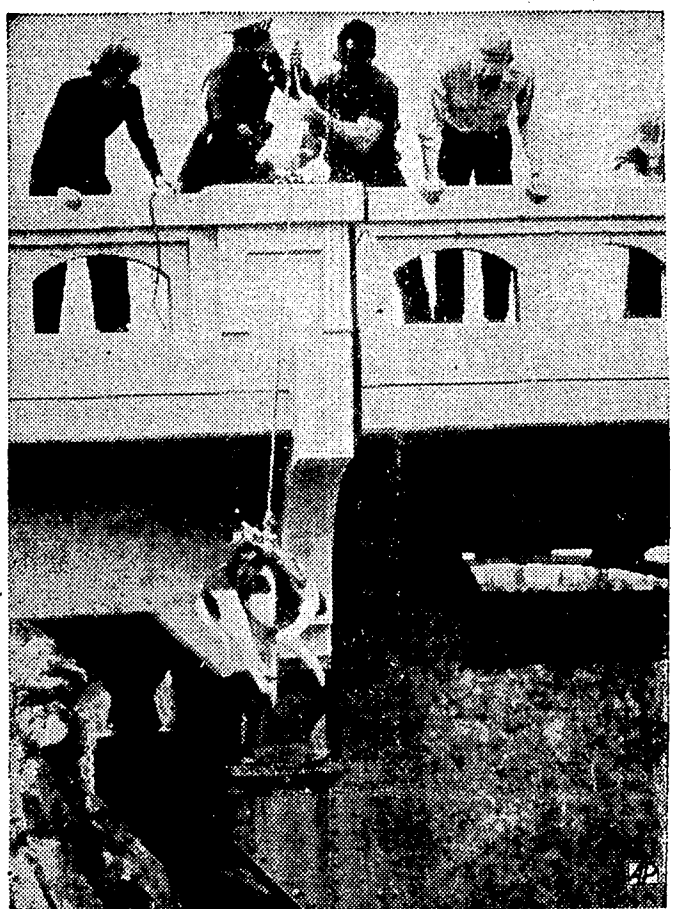

This should make a count in this country fairly easy.

Boosters of Lake Texoma are out to make this spot one of the best-known playgrounds in America. They've already hit on some unique ways to make the name known throughout the country. These include having prospective English Channel swimmers train in its choppy waters.

DOG LIVES AFTER LEAP INTO GORGE—"Lady", a year-old English pointer, is lifted to safety from Crooked River gorge south of Bend, Ore., the first known canine survivor of a frolicking leap that has meant death for at least ten others. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cline and their daughter, driving north from Redding, Calif., let "Lady" romp along with them when they stopped for a view of the gorge. Luckier than other dogs that have leaped playfully over the parapet to find only a 300-foot deep chasm below, "Lady" landed on a ledge 80 feet down. Cline obtained a rope and lowered himself to the ledge to hold the dog until help arrived. Then he climbed up the jutting rocks. (AP Wirephoto).

County Class B Tracksters To Enter Regional Meet; Tiger Golfers To Go

Athletes from Navarro county will be in Dallas Friday and Saturday of this week to take part in the Region 3 track, field and golf activities eliminations.

Blooming Grove has the most athletes eligible to attend, but other county schools will be well represented. First, second and third place winners in the individual track and field events of the recent Navarro county meet will be eligible to enter, but only the first place winners in the team events will be eligible.

Golfers to Go
Corsicana high school's district champion golf team will leave Friday for the Regional tournament at the Dallas Country Club.

The local linksman, who won the first district title under the sponsorship of the TIL in a hard match with Waco, will be putting a strong bid to go to the state tournament.

A case of the mumps will prevent the participation of Orville Langston, Corsicana's only first place winner in the district, from participating in the district and shot competition at Dallas Saturday.

Langston, who set a new district record of over 135 feet last week, and who won first in the shot put, became ill early this week. The sprint relay team at the high school also was eligible to participate, but the fact that some of the members of it will be obliged to play baseball Saturday has kept them from participating.

Thus the golfers will be the only Corsicana athletes competing in the Region 3 playoffs.

Members of the first-place team are Wynne Woolley, David Woolley, Claude Roberson and Johnny Garner. Roberson will be the Corsicana entry in medalist play.

Those track and field contestants from the towns within Navarro county who are eligible to enter the regional meet in the various events are:

High hurdles—Rhodes, Blooming Grove; Floyd, Mildred; and Cagle, Blooming Grove.
440 Dash—Hull, State Home, Thomas Mildred and Jordan, Blooming Grove.
440 Relay—State Home.
High Jump—McGraw, Blooming Grove; Rhodes, Blooming Grove, and Coker, Mildred.
880—Darnell, State Home, Floyd, Mildred, and Belschner, State Home.
220 Dash—Graves, Mildred; Adams, Frost; and Holditch, Blooming Grove.
Broad Jump—Rhodes, Blooming Grove; McGraw, Blooming Grove;

Jax Still Boast Untarnished Lead

By The Associated Press
If you think seven is a lucky number, Port Arthur's going to be unlucky tonight.

Jacksonville's Jax won their seventh straight Gulf Coast league game last night, beating Crowley, 8-3. They move over to Port Arthur tonight boasting the only undefeated record in the Class C circuit.

Port Arthur tuned up for its meeting with the league leader by dropping a 2-1 decision to Lake Charles. The game was called at the end of six innings because of rain and a second tilt was postponed.

Galveston took a firm grip on second place with two easy victories over Lufkin, 10-4 and 5-1. In the first game seven runs in the fifth made it simple.

Koreans Gather Marathon Honors
BOSTON, April 20.—(AP)—Two tiny Korean schoolboys and a chunkier and more experienced countryman today ranked among the world's top long distance runners after finishing one-two-three in the famed Boston A. A. marathon.

Winner Kee Yong Ham, runner-up Kil Yoon Song and Yun Chul Chol, who made an exceptional showing in the 1948 Olympic marathon, completely outclassed 131 rivals Wednesday during the punishing 26 miles-385 yard hill course.

Ham, a 19-year-old who attends Yung Chung school in Seoul, was the first to cross the finish line in 2 hours, 32 minutes, 39 seconds.

He crossed the finish line only three minutes 19 seconds ahead of the 20-year-old Song.

Chol, who started as co-favorite with last year's winner, Karl Gosta Leanderson of Sweden, finished in 2:39:47, beating fourth-place John P. Lafferty of Boston, by five seconds.

Youth's Swing Convinces Coach
CLINTON, N. Y., April 20.—(AP)—Byrne Kinney of Syracuse has a "pretty good" chance of making the Hamilton College golf team, Coach Don Jones was told.

When the freshman turned out for practice Jones said: "Let's see your swing."

Kinney drove off the first tee and scored a hole in one. Far for the 150-yard hole is three.

GOLFERS START TOUR.
DALLAS, April 20.—(AP)—The North Texas State Golf team opens a 11-day tour of the Midwest today with a match at Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind. The team plays Ohio State and Michigan at Columbus, O. Saturday, and will enter the Southern intercollegiate championships at Athens, Ga., April 27-29.

Betsy Rawls Paces Houston Tourney
HOUSTON, April 20.—(AP)—Defending Champion Betsy Rawls of Austin meets Mrs. W. K. Stripling, Jr., of Fort Worth today in the second round of the 28th annual Women's Golf Association tournament.

Wednesday Miss Rawls eliminated Mrs. N. N. Coffman of Houston, 7 and 6.

Mrs. Stripling won from Mrs. Lindsey Blayney of Houston, 5 and 4.

Betty Dodd of San Antonio advanced over Mrs. B. E. Marlett of Houston 2 and 1. Polly Riley of Fort Worth was an easy 6 and 5 victor over Mrs. L. E. Hosack of Dallas. Betty Mackinnon of Mount Pleasant turned back Mrs. Charles True of Dallas, 6 and 4.

JOB RELATIONSHIPS

An important angle of the job-seeking situation is the attitude of the would-be worker toward the job he is after. Employers say many young people seem interested only in the amount of pay and the length of vacations.

The complaint is not a sign of the times; it has always been heard.

After a person is employed, his attitude is equally significant. A speaker before the Illinois Vocational Association recently asserted that many people lost their jobs because of poor relations with fellow-employees, lack of consideration for their firm's rights, and unwillingness to put forth their best efforts. The speaker

recommended that business schools emphasize the matter of attitude as part of their training.

Such training should really begin in the home. Character-building, begun in the early years, leads to a correct attitude in all life's relationships, including those of job-hunting.

JEFFERSON AND THE IDEA

What man burning with a new idea has not cried out against the caution with which others approach it?

He is likely to wish himself in the good old days when Americans were pioneers in spirit and in fact. Was the lot of new ideas better then?

Writing to Joel Barlow in 1807, Thomas Jefferson remarked thus:

"There is a snail-paced gait for the advance of new ideas on the general mind,

under which we must acquiesce. A forty years' experience of popular assemblies has taught me, that you must give them time for every step you take. If too hard pushed, they balk and the machine retrogrades."

This is an appropriate remark for a new idea in Congress or the state legislature today, but it was advice to a man who needed it then.

Joel Barlow was a revolutionary in a post-revolutionary period. He was eager to get on with the reformation of America, to obtain political equality, rights and justice for all, to make this new nation stand proudly in its new world. He, too, may at times have wished himself back in "the good old days."

POLITICS AND BUDGETS

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower

side-stepped a Senate Appropriations Committee question as to whether federal deficit spending and the unbalanced budget were undermining the nation's economy. Said the general:

"To my mind such issues have somehow gotten a political character, unfortunately. A man comments on them and suddenly he is a politician."

The general certainly hit the nail on the head. Budget policies and politics are inseparable. It was politics which got the national budget into its present condition.

Perhaps we must find a way to reverse politics to extricate the budget from its puddle of red ink.

HIGHER PRODUCTION

While industrial production in the United States was sagging in 1949, the general trend of production throug-out the world continued upward. This is the substance of a United Nations report on manufacturing and mining production, compiled from figures supplied by member governments. There were gaps in the statistics,

but the economists making the report said they believe the missing figures would effect only the totals, not the trend or conclusions.

THE FAMILY PRONOUNS.

They seldom used the pronoun:

They seldom used the pronoun:

But always of their hopes said:

"We."

"Some day new rugs we hope to buy."

"We want the children fit to see."

The garden with the springtime

flowers,

The plinks and ploxs and columbine.

They spoke, of to their friends as:

"Ours."

Since neither thought of them as: "Mine."

"Twas always: "Ours" and "We"

and "Us."

As one, uniting their careers,

The family their aim, and thus

Their home endured throughout the years.

There are nine Indian reservations in Utah, the Navajo being the largest.

The U. S. uses 34,500 tons of paper matches daily.

Largest missing figures were those of Russia and Argentina, both of which are believed to have kept production on the increase in 1949.

The United States and India were the only large nations showing production declines for the year. In both the causes of the drop were traced to things other than the operation of natural economic laws. The dispute with Pakistan and Kashmir was blamed for the drop in India. In the United States

there was some degree of recession attributable to simple economic cycles, but there were the coal and steel strikes. The effect of the strikes was so deep and widespread that it is impossible to say with any assurance what the next effect of the recession would otherwise have been.

Can the trend of production be expected continually to be upward? It can be and should be. The world population is still increasing, and so every year there are more people to make things and more people to use them.

It ought to follow that more things will be produced

every year.

ARKANSAS NOTABLES

When Frank C. Pace, Jr.,

director of the budget, was appointed secretary of the Army, President Truman did a remarkable thing. He named only the second resident of Arkansas in all its history

to become a cabinet member. The other was Augustus

H. Garland, attorney-general for four years in Grover

Cleveland's first administration.

Garland had served in the Confederate senate, and later was governor and United States senator from Arkansas. Desiring to honor the South and impressed by his record, which had been notable, Cleveland chose him,

only to be disappointed.

Garland was narrow and legalistic, inclined to favor turning the public domain to private interests. In a cabinet full of outstanding men,

Garland did not measure up to his colleagues.

Arkansas has had noted sators. Not the least was Joe T. Robinson, who served from 1913 to his death in 1937 and became majority floor leader. His standing with his fellow senators was such that he was thought capable of putting through President Roosevelt's court packing bill. It was Robinson's sudden death that caused the President to admit defeat and give up his plan.

HIRING A CRITIC

The President's appointment of John Foster Dulles to be a State Department advisor with the rank of ambassador at large must be interpreted as an indication that the President is willing to go a long way in his effort to re-establish a bipartisan foreign policy. Among national figures not now in Congress or government, he could hardly have found a harsher critic of the administration than Dulles proved to be in the New York senatorial contest last fall.

Not all Republicans endorsed the full extent of the Dulles attack in that campaign. But one thing can be said of his new function:

He should be able to tell the State Department what conservative Republicans find wrong with its policies.

That Paris designer who would put men in ruffled silk shirts should first query

his victims—and the women, too, who would have to iron the things.

Temple Wildcats

Defeated Tigers

In District Tilt

Early Mistakes

Hurt Cause Of

Local Bengals

The Temple Wildcats

notched a 6-4 victory over the Corsicana Tigers at Territo Park here Tuesday afternoon to replace the Corsi-canans in second place in the District 13-AA baseball standings.

Early mistakes again hurt

the Tigers, who went into the last of the seventh inning five runs behind the Wildcats, and tumbled in a rally that forced Temple to send in a new pitcher in order to quell it.

For six innings Temple's Gary

Williams right-handed his way to an edge over the Tigers, who nevertheless hit off him in every frame except the sixth. In the seventh the Tigers found the range and Miguel came in to relieve him.

Walter Bond went the whole way for Corsicana, pitching six hits.

Matthews Homers

The only homer of the ball game came off Rayborn Matthews' bat with two men on in the seventh.

The clout was over the left field wall, with plenty to spare.

Temple counted two runs in the first frame on three Corsicana errors. The miscues were all wild throws to first base. Temple got two more in the third, both earned via single by Strasburger and Wiggers and Tutor's double to center.

Temple committed all three of its errors in the fourth, but heads up play around first base kept the Tigers from tallying more than one run.

The seventh was the big inning of the game. Temple started off a spurge with two away when Bond walked Harlan and Williams, and Wiggers singled behind him. Matthews' homer then cleared the bases and gave Corsicana 3 runs, and Stagers drew a base on balls.

Temple then sent in Miguel for Williams.

Berry made it to first on Harlan's error, but Crawford fanned out and Bowden grounded out to Harlan to end the game.

There was some firing on both sides with Tutor of Temple</

knowledge, I would not say that he (Lattimore) was the top Soviet agent."
But he had testified that during his own Communist party membership he had considered Lattimore to be a Communist. He said too that Lattimore was party to a conspiracy to help the Communists take over China.
Lattimore's lawyers passed to Morgan a series of written questions. In response to these, Budenz testified that he had not given the FBI any information regarding Lattimore "until very recently."
Budenz was pressed for an answer to this question:
"Do you of your own personal knowledge know whether this man (Lattimore) was a Communist?"
Budenz replied that he never had seen Lattimore at a meeting but that he did know of many reports that Lattimore was a Communist.
"Without relying on what you've been told, do you know whether this man was a Communist?"
Budenz said no, he did not, that he had to rely on the reports of high Communist officials.

At the outset, Budenz said he was testifying "reluctantly" and had no interest from a "partisan" standpoint. But he said he was concerned over the "great danger to the United States" and could produce documentary evidence of "Stalin's determination to conquer the United States."
Lattimore, sitting behind Budenz, grimly made notes as the Communist testified.
McCarthy sat unsmiling behind Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the senate group.
Budenz swore:
1. That in 1944 when Lattimore went to China with former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, a party member told Budenz to "consider" Owen Lattimore as a Communist.
2. That Lattimore was identified through the initials "L" or "XL" in reports of the Communist party's American politburo.
3. That Lattimore was a member of a Communist cell in the Institute of Pacific Relations.
4. That Lattimore "can be placed" in a 1937 "conspiracy" to bring China into the Communist orbit.

The sharply conflicting testimony of Budenz and Lattimore brought McCarthy's whole case nearer a climax.
One way that climax could be reached—perhaps the only way—would be for the government to bring a perjury charge against one man or the other.
A jury then would decide whether the man charged had in fact lied to the senators.
Budenz said he knows Lattimore was associated with two men he said were "Soviet agents." He named these men as Frederick Vanderbilt Field, an official of the Institute of Pacific Relations, and Philip Jaffe, former editor of the magazine "Amerasia."
He said the Institute was not a Communist organization, but that it contained a Communist cell which was able at one time to gain control of the organization.
Lattimore was close by as Budenz testified. With him were Mrs. Lattimore and his lawyers, Art Fortas and Thurmond Arnold. They sat directly behind Budenz, so close they could have reached out and touched him.
Budenz told the committee that evidence can be obtained to substantiate his testimony.

McCarthy had predicted in advance of today's session that Budenz would swear he knew Lattimore, Far Eastern affairs specialist, to be a member of the Communist party. Lattimore has denied that he ever was a Communist.
Budenz was sworn by Senator Tydings (D-Md), chairman of the senate foreign relations subcommittee which is looking into McCarthy's accusations.
Budenz came early. But he didn't come immediately to the committee rooms. He went to Senator Tydings' office.
McCarthy had said he would be willing to "stand of fall" on the Lattimore case in his general contention that the state department had been infiltrated by Communists and their sympathizers. Lattimore is not a department employee, but has been an occasional adviser to it. He has a general reputation as one of this country's best informed men on Far Eastern affairs.
Budenz said that Lattimore was "commended" by Field and Earl J. Browder, former head of the Communist party in this country, for having been responsible for placing a number of "Communist writers" in the Institute of Pacific Affairs.
He named as one of the writers, a James S. Allen, whom he identified as a representative of the Communist Internationale in the Philippines and a foreign editor of the Daily Worker.
The 58-year old Budenz related to the committee details of his association with the Communist party during the period of 1935-45.
As managing editor of the New York Daily Worker, official Communist newspaper in this country, Budenz said he attended meetings of the U. S. "politburo" and was constantly kept informed by it.
He identified the "politburo" as the heart of the Communist movement in this country.
The "politburo," he said, received its instructions from a representative of the Communist Internationale who in turn got its orders from Moscow.
"The Communist party is set up not on democratic but on conspiratorial basis," he said, adding that it dealt in espionage as well as conspiracy.
Part of his job Budenz said, was virtually to memorize a list of some 1,000 names of persons identified with the party.
This list, he said, was not put down in writing for fear it might be disclosed.
Budenz said the Institute of Pacific Relations was "successfully infiltrated."
The Institute is a private institution. It was set up back in the 1920s with the declared purpose of increasing knowledge about the Pacific area and increasing friendship among the peoples of the lands touching that ocean.
Chairman Tydings (D-Md) asked Budenz if he could say exactly when the Communists took over control of the Institute and to what knowledge reported to the "politburo."
He went on to say that Philip Jaffe was then secretly connected with Field in a publication "China Today." He also identified Jaffe as editor of the magazine "Amerasia."
"Jaffe and Field are solely espionage agents," Budenz declared.
Budenz said it was agreed at a 1936 meeting of Communist party leaders, including Browder, that Lattimore would be given general direction in organizing Communist writers who would put across the idea that the Communists in China were agrarian reformers.
Senator Green (D-R) asked whether Lattimore was present at that meeting.
"Oh, no, sir, he was not present," the witness replied.
Budenz added that the fact Lattimore was not present was not significant.
Budenz said that at a 1943 meeting of the Communist party political bureau, instructions were drafted notifying Lattimore of a change in the party line regarding Chiang Kai-Shek. Budenz said Browder again was present and that the instructions went to Lattimore through Field.
The new line, Budenz testified, was "to attack Chiang Kai-Shek." Accordingly, Budenz testified, an article with that theme was written by one T. A. Bission for the publication of the Institute of Pacific relations.

Budenz said that in 1944, at the time Lattimore went to China with former Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, he (Budenz) was "advised by Jack Stachel" to "consider Owen Lattimore as a Communist."
Stachel is one of the 11 Communist party leaders convicted recently in New York of conspiring to overthrow the government by force.
Budenz added that Wallace's trip to China was "followed closely" by Communist party leaders. He did not amplify the statement.

Is Your Cat Allergic To People?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It turns out that most of my friends are aelurophobes. I suppose that every cat-owner comes to the realization that the world is full of people with a morbid fear and dread of members of the cat family, and it doesn't seem to matter whether the feline is a new-born kitten or a hungry lion on the loose.
Therefore, is it with considerable pride and relish that I can say that we are pretty certain our cat, Toni, is an anthropophile, a word we invent for animals allergic to people.
Toni, black and white and of uncertain parentage, is under a specialist's care, receiving daily dosage of anti-histamine and being tested for catnip before she'd enter. Still is amusing because she can't bear to look at a magazine or newspaper picture of a member of the cat family.
"The lady across the street runs into the house and locks the door if any neighborhood cat crosses within view, even when the cat is minding his own business," When we first were accepted by Toni as her own, we started receiving preliminary telephone calls from fraidy-cats who planned to drop in. On specific instructions we had to lock the cat in the cellar or a bedroom before our aelurophobe friends would come calling.

It was all right for a short call, but the most ghastly week-end we ever put in was when a cat-hating friend, spent a couple of days with us. We spent all the time making sure Toni was far out of our friend's sight. The friend was as jumpy as a cat is supposed to be. And Toni, with the knowledge and perversity of her species, wanted more than anything to get at our guest, either to try to charm or to tease him.
Finally we decided that it was Toni or aelurophobes, and Toni won.

However, last winter Toni started shedding her fine, long coat. She looked very strange indeed and we tried any number of remedies to cure her strange ailment. When warm weather came and she began spending most of the days and nights chasing mice and moles with considerable success and biding with a notable lack of it, all the hair came back.
It happened again this winter, so back to the vet's she went. After a week's hospitalization, the diagnosis came back: allergy. The vet advised a series of allergy tests — 40 tests for $25. She wasn't allergic to any of the items on that allergy list, and now we are conducting our own item-by-item experiments.

We are pretty certain now that Toni is allergic to people. We don't hold her on our laps any more, and we don't even stroke her new grown crop of fur. We explain the situation to cat-loving people by telling them about the pigeon that was people-toed and the frog with a man in his throat, both very old jokes.
However, having an anthropophile in the family is a very unhandy business, particularly as Toni's allergy isn't directed particularly against people who fear her. The discouraging part is that she's just as allergic to us, her family, as she is to the lady across the street.

Amos Most Popular of All Biblical Prophets—His Message Ever Timely—He Had Much To Say On Contemporary Drinking Customs—Social Justice His Perennial Theme

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS.

We live in an age when men and women are more serious about matters of social justice than ever before. Nobody today who has any interest in maintaining his intellectual and moral soundness believes for a moment that we should go back to "the good old days" when the weak and unprotected without any fear that the heavy hand of the law would be laid on his shoulder.

Amos, the prophet who lived and preached almost 2800 years ago, has had more to do with this change of mental front on the part of modern men than most people even suspect. Down the centuries his denunciations of unrighteousness and oppression have been ringing in men's ears. This change of mental front in our own day came into his own.

We know little about Amos except what is told us in the book which bears his name. He emerged from the undistinguished common people. He was a sort of "handyman" in earning his meager livelihood. Sometimes he was called a shepherd in the wilderness of Tekoa; sometimes he pinched some of the flocks (the tree is not to be confused with our sycamore), to hasten their ripening for the market, for they were an important item in the poor people's diet. Sometimes he traveled afoot to Jerusalem, to Bethel, and perhaps to Damascus, selling his wool of seeking a job.

In the lesson for this week we encounter Amos as he denounces oppression, injustice, and oppression.

With a Modern Ring.

His first blast is against the drinking customs of his day, and amazingly modern in his whole trend of thought—he directs his most pointed shafts at the women of Samaria among whom drinking appears to have taken on alarming proportions. He addresses these women as the "kine" or "cows" of Bashan. The cattle of Bashan were always sleek and well fed to the point of surfeit. Such were the women of Samaria. They liked their liquor as few women in any generation have, and they were constantly after their husbands to multiply and speed up their drinking parties.

Regardless of whether this passage of Scripture does or does not set forth modern conditions, the fact remains that there has been during the past 20 years an appalling increase of drinking among women. Women today as ever are moulding the minds and ideals of their children, and the present increase of juvenile delinquency is a disquieting reminder that in many homes children are not receiving the training in habits of life that will later make them happy and useful members of society. In every age, the future rests with the women because of their youth, and we can be pretty sure that the setting up of bars in homes, the free and jaunty attitude toward alcohol indulgence manifested in the many cocktail parties, does not constitute wholesome training for youth.

Parents Need to Ponder. One out of every 15 young people will become an alcoholic. Students of the subject are largely convinced that most drinking habits originate in social drinking, and usually in the home. In the light of these facts, parents, and especially women, have a responsibility resting upon them which they had better ponder seriously and prayerfully. A college official recently stated that it was his opinion that most of the intemperate drinking among college students was the result of the bad example set by parents and other adults in the home.

Most thoughtful people reading Amos' diatribe against the drinking customs of his day would be constrained to admit that Amos was a man of penetrating insight and moral balance.

But the lesson is not all about drinking. Amos also denounces injustice and oppression in all its forms. Avarice Disintegrates Life. Usually, the acid test by which men stand or fall is the money test. A person's attitude toward his fellow men and toward life in general, and toward God, the rich of Israel were having a field day at the expense of the poor, and Amos arose to call them to account.

So long as money is legitimately used, it is one of the best tools of men. But when money is used for itself, when it ceases to be a servant and becomes a master, then it is an evil thing. The perils of wealth to the human soul have been the theme of all philosophers back to the ancient times. The sages of the ages are one in saying that the vanity of wealth, the love of money, impairs the finer aspects of the human spirit.

The stern admonitions of Amos concerning these matters and his lamentations gave him no popularity; yet he lifted his prophetic voice, in season and out of season.

One of the most hopeful signs of our present day is that there are so many who recognize lesser Amoses in our midst.

Seven Sentence Sermons. The reward of one duty done is the power to fulfill another.—George Elliot.

Someone commended Philip of Macedonia for drinking freely, and Demosthenes commented that is a good quality in a sponge, but not in a king.

Thrice is he armed that hath his quarrel just, And he is but naked, though lock'd up in steel, Whose conscience with injustice is corrupted.—Shakespeare.

It is not their long reigns, nor their frequent changes which occasion the fall of empires, but their abuse of power.—Crabbe.

Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish justice in the gate.—Amos 5:15.

Saint Augustine! well hast thou said, That of our vices we can frame, A ladder, if we will but tread Beneath our feet each deed of shame.—Longfellow.

Even in the meanest sort of labor, the whole soul of a man is composed into a kind of real harmony the instant he sets himself to work.—Carlyle.

Bobbie Lee Shaw, Robert H. Stewart Are Married Here

Miss Bobbie Lee Shaw and Robert Harris Stewart, both of Waco, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Northside Baptist Church with the Rev. Jack Gott officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bessie L. Shaw of Corsicana, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Stewart of Waco.

White gladioli, lemon leaves and palms embellished the altar, where the couple exchanged vows. Myriad tapers gleamed in floor candleholders.

Before the ceremony Jim Bullington sang "Because" and "Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Miss Thelma Freeman, who also played the processional and recessional.

Bride Wears White T. Marshall Ray gave his sister-in-law in marriage. Her bridal gown of white organdy was designed with a basque bodice, Peter Pan collar and puffed sleeves above a bouffant skirt that swept into a chapel train. Her mits matched the dress, and her shoulder length veil was attached to a halo of bridal illusion and lilies of the valley. She carried a Bible, bound in white satin and topped with an orchid showered with shattered carnations.

Miss Elizabeth Wolfe of Waco, attended the bride. She wore a velvet orkandy frock of bolero length and a circlet headdress fashioned of flowers. She carried a garden bouquet of vari-colored sprays of flowers.

Jack Cheatham of Waco served as best man. Ushers were Joe Avery and George Brown, both of Waco, and V. L. Westbrook, brother-in-law of the bride. The bride's mother was given in a frock of black lace and crepe, accessorized in black. Her flowers were white carnations, worn in a shoulder corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of navy blue with navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. T. Marshall Ray.

After the wedding trip to Corpus Christi, the newly married couple will be at home at 2420 Parrish avenue, Waco. For travel the bride wore a champagne suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Stewart, who attended school in Enhouse and in California, now is employed by the firm of Bauer-McCann in Waco. Her Spring flowers are associated with Western Electric company.

Waco relatives and friends attending included the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Stewart, his grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Harris, Janice Hayes, Juel Adcock, Hazel Smith, Katerina Logan, Aileen Jones, Bob Morris, Frank Hough, F. B. Hubbard, Frank Smith, Mmes. Max Bird and Winnie Query, Messrs. and Mmes. J. L. Wolfe, Dennis F. Daniel, W. D. Turner Jr., W. D. Turner Sr., and Roy Driver.

Among the other out of town guests were A. E. Lasater of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Duke Arnatta and Patty Arnatta, Denton.

Former Resident Visits Corsicana Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Quinlan, Collingwood, Ontario, Canada, were Corsicana visitors Wednesday.

Quinlan resided in Corsicana during the Powell oil boom. He was a scout for the Sims Oil Company.

When the Hughes-McKie gusher caught fire May 9, 1923, Quinlan was within 60 feet of the well. He was severely burned in attempting to rescue some of the 18 men losing their lives in the fire. The well was extinguished May 20.

Quinlan is now president of Quinlan's Limited, makers of Hassocks by Quinlans, Collingwood.

Sharp and Charles Bristow, and Sam Boyd, Waco.

Kate F. Elliott gave a report on the district convention held at Waco and stated that the St. Paul school at Malakoff had issued an invitation for the club to hold a meeting there. Sec. Elliott was instructed to write a letter to Nelson Hawkins, present district governor, complimenting him on the Temple convention.

Walter Kline was in charge of the program and Mrs. Sam Werner furnished the piano music.

Owned and operated locally, the mills have an annual payroll of about $1,000,000 and annually consume 12,000 to 15,000 bales of cotton, valued at $2,000,000.

Planning to make its employees and the city morally as well as financially happy, the Corsicana Cotton Mills has constructed a picnic area and park area for its employees, and purchases from $100,000 to $200,000 of supplies and services locally each year.

The plant sponsors a welfare program for its employees, holds an annual barbecue, and owns 45 houses which it furnishes its employees at low rental.

In 10 years the company has paid more than $3 million income taxes to the federal government and its employees have paid better than $300,000 in withholding taxes.

The Corsicana Cotton Mills furnishes employment for 400 to 500 persons.

Speaking about electricity used at the plant, Smith said the daily use would amount to the same amount in 1,500 average homes. The company also uses about 3,600 barrels of oil annually.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting included district-governor elect, Jack Dillard, Waco; J. W. Porter, Dallas; George Adams, Bryan. Guests were Mrs. Pauline Elliott, Mrs. Inez Jones, Student guests Ben

Rev. Bohmfalk Attends Seminar In Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19—(AP)—Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, pastor of the First Methodist church, Corsicana, Texas, is one of a select group of about 75 Methodist ministers from various sections of the nation attending a seminar here April 19-20. Theme of the conference, which includes addresses by high-ranking government officials and ambassadors from several nations, is "21st Century Living."

He was invited to attend the important meeting by Dr. J. Richard Spann of Nashville, Tenn., director of Methodist's Commission on Ministerial Training, which annually sponsors such a gathering. The American University of Washington, D. C., cooperates in the project.

Something of the scope of the seminar is suggested by one evening's program which included addresses or interviews with seven ambassadors. The seminar also provided an opportunity to interview Vice President Barkley, a Methodist layman, and to attend a session of congress.

A final session was held in historical Foundry Methodist Church, of which Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, chaplain of the Senate, is pastor.

Navarro County Traffic Record

Navarro county eked out a better traffic accident record than three of its adjoining counties during 1949, a report from the Department of Public Safety revealed Thursday.

With six fatalities—compared with nine in 1948—Navarro county proved safer for motorists than Ellis, Freestone and Anderson counties, which had 17, 11 and 10 fatalities, respectively.

The state death rate from vehicle accidents has dropped to 7.3 per 100,000 vehicle miles. A dozen years ago that rate was double—14.6.

One interesting fact contained in the DPS Annual report is that 61 per cent of the rural fatal accidents in 1949 involved only one vehicle—just one driver.

So, the department says, "watching the other fellow" was not quite good enough.

"A great deal more effort should be made to watch one's self," it was said.

Farmers Squaring Away For Bitter Boll Weevil Fight

WACO, April 20.—(AP)—Progressive Central Texas farmers are squaring away to battle what they fear will be the worst cotton insect infestation in years.

"Boll weevils are already crawling on the inside of our research cages," says W. P. Ewing of the cotton insects laboratory here.

Mild Winter Cited. The exceptionally mild winter weather is cited as a good sign that weevils and worms will be thick in cotton this year unless farmers fight back.

Insect infestation already has badly damaged the wheat crop.

Bel County Agent W. T. Seals is another who is predicting heavy cotton infestation this year.

A good many Central Texas farmers are expected to carry out control recommendations developed at the laboratory. This control program is based on early planting in the area not later than the end of April, according to the recommendations, and both spraying and dusting will help curb the insects. The program calls for dusting or spraying three times at weekly intervals beginning immediately after chipping or in the four-leaf stage.

Should Stop Poisoning. Early season poisoning should be stopped at least four weeks before bollworms appear. This gives time for beneficial insects to re-establish themselves before bollworms occur. Tests have shown that 90 per cent of boll weevils are in the cotton by May 5 in Central Texas.

Pauline Smiths Prove Confusing In This Hospital

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Pauline Smith, 50, Los Angeles, entered general hospital a year ago.

Last March 14, Mrs. Pauline P. Smith, 75, Covina, Calif., was admitted for treatment.

On March 24, one of the Mrs. Smiths died. The husband of the younger, Clarence Smith, was notified. Without viewing the body, he signed burial papers and the body was interred.

A few days later, Edward Smith of Covina inquired about the condition of his wife, the elder Mrs. Smith. An error was discovered. The woman who was buried was the wife of Edward, not Clarence Smith.

Authorities tried to notify Clarence Smith that his wife was still alive. But in the meantime he had died April 10—at General Hospital.

Pied-Piper Of Foxes Postpones Visit To Athens

ATHENS, April 20.—(AP)—A Brownwood man's appearance here as a Pied Piper of rabid foxes has been delayed until next week end.

A. L. Lindsey of Brownwood originally had offered to come this week end. But County Judge James Spencer said threatening rains might spoil the hunt if it held this week.

Expert Caller. Lindsey is an expert fox hunter and caller. He had offered the services not only of himself but also of several friends, all using specially designed fox callers. He said there would be no charge.

The Brownwood man and his fellow hunters have successfully lured and killed number of the animals in other parts of Texas.

Rabid foxes, a threat to people as well as livestock, have been objects of extensive hunts in East Texas.

"Can't Lose Plan." "It can't cost the county or individuals a dime, and it might help a great deal in killing a number of foxes which we are now paying out money to have exterminated by a paid trapper," said Judge Spencer. "Also it would be a great help to us of our local hunters could learn to operate the fox calls and get interested in the sport of hunting and calling the animals as Lindsey and his friends have."

 shell, about August 1, about threats he had heard from Hollifield, Fraley and a brother, Frank Fraley of San Angelo, visited the officer to request that Grant try to reason with Hollifield. On cross-examination, the son said that he had never heard a threat that Hollifield would kill his father, but was told Hollifield was dangerous. The defense rested at 9:09 a. m.

The defense motion for an instructed verdict was overruled, and the state was allowed, despite defense objections, to re-open introduction of evidence and introduced the shotgun exhibited earlier in the trial.

Judge A. P. Mays began the reading of his charge to the jury at 9:55 a. m. and Seton T. Holsey, assistant county attorney, opened the arguments for the state at 10:15 a. m. Each side is allowed one hour for arguments. Other attorneys are Doyle Pevhouse and State Senator George Nokes, for the defense, and Charles T. Banister, county attorney, prosecutor.

A considerable crowd of interested attendants filled the courtroom Thursday morning for the arguments of the attorneys.

The jury for the week was excused until 1 p. m. Thursday by Judge Mays.

PICK UP head and lead to c ... B

John C. Calhoun, Corsicana, state democratic executive committee chairman, testified that the defendant's reputation was good.

The defendant spent one hour and 38 minutes on the witness stand, including direct testimony and a grueling cross-examination conducted by County Attorney Banister.

Fraley testified about where he had resided for years, and outlined his purchase of 12.3 acres, more or less, where he resided at the time of the trouble. Banister examined the title and abstract for him. He testified he and Hollifield were friendly—that he allowed Hollifield to use the disputed strip for his hog—Hollifield gave him (Fraley) a pig for its use and that Hollifield never claimed the land in question for himself, but that it was a public passageway or road.

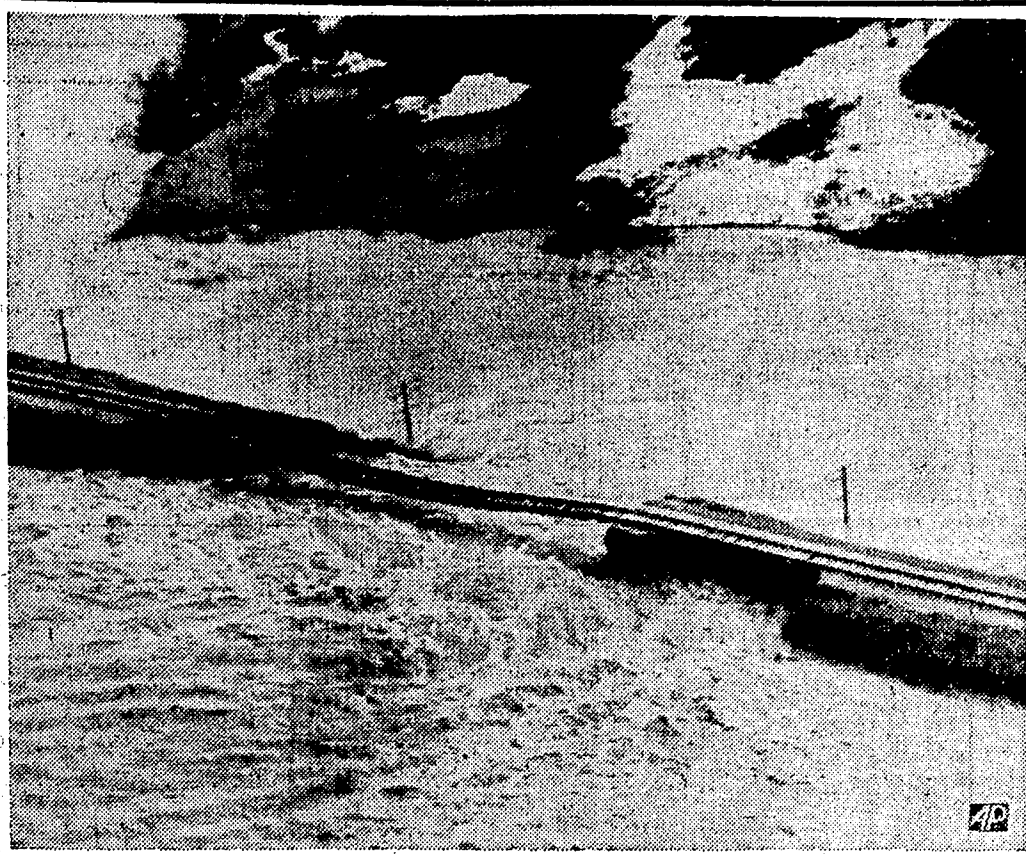

Fraley said the deceased "cussed me out" prior to the trouble and called Fraley a meddler and threatened to do him bodily harm. Fraley said he walked away to avoid trouble on a previous occasion—that threats were communicated to him from David Hollifield by Tom Campbell—detailed talks to Judge Armstrong, Banister, Matt Dawson, Doyle Pevhouse, and others about the dispute. Banister told him (Fraley) to get a lawyer as it was a civil matter and declined to accept a peace bond.

"I couldn't see any reason to sue for my property and the other man didn't claim it," Fraley declared.

The defendant detailed an argument with two Hollifield daughters—of threats against him if he bothered the fence—an invitation to his wife to come out of her yard and fight, etc.

During the argument with the Hollifield girls, Fraley said he told them he would remove a fence and one retorted that if he did a gun would be waiting for him if he touched the fence.

Fraley testified he put wire and posts on the disputed strip the morning of the trouble and asked Arthur Larimore, a negro, to help him that afternoon put up the fence. He said he (Fraley) put staples, pliers, nails and a pistol in a half-bushel basket, after seeing the deceased looking over the wire and post previously put on the site. He said Hollifield came from a shed and accused the defendant of trying to run something over somebody—then told Fraley not to put up a post or drive a staple or do anything else to the fence, and then called to his (Hollifield's) house with the declaration:

"Come on out, all of you!"

"I thought they might mob me and I picked up my pistol and the defendant pulled a pistol out of his pocket. I shot at him. I looked to be shot 'any minute,' Fraley testified and then denied that he had asked his wife to come with him. He said Mrs. Fraley arrived about the time the argument started. He admitted he had told his wife he was afraid to go to the plot without something with which to defend himself.

Fraley testified he had never been convicted or tried on any charge.

After the trouble, he went to town to phone for an ambulance and notify the sheriff, but was told that the sheriff had already been notified. He said he had worked with Hollifield, cutting wood, building fences, leveling a house, etc., and that he (Fraley) had rented him land two years on which Hollifield raised crops and worked it.

Under cross-examination, Fraley said the strip was left after 12.3 acres had been measured, but declined to admit remembering that he had told Mr. and Mrs. Hollifield for 15 years ago that he did on the former trial, it was because he had misunderstood the question—and denied the answer now. He said he and his wife quit buying milk from the Hollifields several months prior to the trouble, and denied that incident caused any hard feelings or arguments.

Fraley said he disconnected the cross-fences from the northern fence—that he had complained of hogs getting on his property—that he knew Hollifield drew a bill, pension from the state but that "he was no more blind than I am."

After a recess, Fraley testified that Hollifield had a hog on the premises in dispute the day of the slaying, but that he (Fraley) thought the matter had been settled so he decided to move the fence—taking the pistol, however, for protection.

Fraley said he shot at Hollifield before the gun he said the deceased carried was raised toward him and as the deceased turned, Mrs. Fraley fired—he then turned and walked 15 or 20 feet before falling.

Fraley testified he saw the wife and son, David, and another person come out of the Hollifield back door. He denied the Fraleys pointed guns at them with the declaration that they would also kill them, but he did say:

"I told them to stop and don't come closer," as they sought to go to the fallen man, Fraley testified under merciless cross-examination at the hands of Banister, and he admitted he did not see any weapons in either of their hands, but that he didn't know if they did and wasn't taking any chances.

Emma Larimore, negress, was recalled, and said she had seen Hollifield pick and weight cotton. Recital testimony by the state began at 8:30 p. m.

Lee Miles, a neighbor, said he bought the last part of the George land and his trade and deed was for that below the Fraley line. He said he had never and does not now claim the strip involved in the trouble.

"I wouldn't have it," he asserted. Will Cobb, Barry, said Hollifield bore a good reputation and couldn't see well as far back as 1935 when he picked cotton for him. D. A. Rizzo of Blooming Grove said Hollifield had a good reputation.

William Hollingsworth, former constable at Blooming Grove, said that he had seen Hollifield and had told him what kind of money changes he (Hollifield) had in his hands. He admitted on cross-examination by Pevhouse that he (Hollingsworth) had been indicted for theft and pleaded guilty in district court here. He said that he happened about six years ago—that he was later elected constable and resigned eight months later because the job did not suit him. He also admitted his wife was a cousin of Hollifield.

N. H. Green, Blooming Grove, said Hollifield bore a good reputation and said he had seen him (Hollifield) bump into things because of his defective eyesight. He described him as being about seven feet tall—a big man—and estimated his weight at 145 pounds. A photograph of the Hollifield body was introduced.

Barlow Testified.
 Leroy Barlow, court reporter, testified about certain testimony he transcribed for the county attorney of the defendant's testimony, on the first trial in January and it was introduced relative to his saying that he told Hollifield the 26 feet was his (Hollifield's).

Don Harris, Cryer Creek, said Hollifield bore a good reputation and formerly worked for him.

Owen Sheppard, newly-appointed justice of the peace at Blooming Grove, said he had known Hollifield for 15 years and his reputation was good.

County Attorney Banister testified, with Assistant Holsey conducting the direct examination, and outlined the times the defendant conferred with him on the matter—his advice that he stay away from the fence until the matter had been adjudicated in a civil, not criminal, process. He outlined his investigations and questioning of persons at Blooming Grove and said he failed to accept a complaint for a peace bond because all the threats he was appraised of were conditional on Fraley's bothering the fence—which he emphasized that he told Fraley to stay away from.

Sheriff David Castles was the 49th witness and gave measurements of houses and other objects in the Fraley-Hollifield area as made last January on the request of Banister.

Wednesday Afternoon.
 The state rested early in the afternoon after presenting two witnesses. E. D. Ingram was the first and Dr. James E. Boyd of Hillsboro, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, was the final state witness. The doctor testified Hollifield had about one-tenth normal vision in one eye and the other was practically blind.

Derward George was the first witness presented by the defense, followed by Jeff Hargrave, T. M. Sewell, Tommy Armstrong, R. L. Cagier and Matt Dawson, local attorney. Dawson said the defendant had told him he (Fraley) was afraid of Hollifield and was disturbed. He was vigorously cross-examined by Banister.

Jimmy Tallman said he visited the Hollifield home seeking the Fraley residence and Hollifield was cutting wood and picked up nails off the ground.

Tom Campbell, Blooming Grove, testified that he conveyed threats of David Hollifield, a son of the deceased, to Fraley and Fraley's two sons—that the younger Hollifield had threatened to "kick his britches off," referring to Fraley.

John Fraley, a son of the defendant, resident of Purdon, said he received the threats as outlined by Campbell and from others.

Emma Larimore, negress, who resides in Blooming Grove, said she heard a discussion and dispute involving the defendant and his wife and the two daughters of Hollifield. She stated "bad language" used toward both Fraleys in the conversation and that one invited Mrs. Fraley to come out of the yard and that she, the younger woman, would whip her (Mrs. Fraley). The witness said that Fraley told the younger women (Mrs. Clarabell Goldstein and Mrs. Floyd Shipley) to go on home and he (Fraley) would pick up a brick if they attacked his wife whom he was quoted as saying was too old to fight. She also said one of the women told Fraley if he came to the fence dispute, a gun would be waiting for him.

Judge F. E. Armstrong, former justice of the peace, and Joe George, Blooming Grove county commissioner, related meetings in which they urged upon Hollifield that the land in question belonged to Fraley and told him where the correct lines lay.

Both said Hollifield said he wanted to do the right thing, but at first did not understand the matter. George said the line in question had been established for 38 years.

Joe Welch, Venus, formerly of Blooming Grove and Corsicana, said that Hollifield's reputation was both bad and good and that his opinion was that it was bad.

Defense motions dictated by Senator Nokes for a mistrial for remarks made by County Attorney Banister on two occasions that he maintained were inflammatory and could not be cured by merely ordering them not considered by the jury were over-ruled by Judge Mays.

Wednesday Morning.

The defendant pleaded innocent Tuesday afternoon following the selection of the jury and before evidence was started. The trial is not attractive to the interest the first one developed in January.

Dr. J. H. Playfair, Blooming Grove physician and mayor, described the body of the Hollifield body—produced by a shotgun, striking the body on the right side, slightly toward the back. Other Wednesday morning witnesses included E. E. Jones, deputy sheriff; R. Bruce McCormick, Blooming Grove funeral director; H. C. Riddels, Corsicana Funeral director; Raymond Myrick, former deputy sheriff; Mrs. Tom Campbell, Dallas, formerly of Blooming Grove; Mrs. Bertha Ellis, case worker for the department of public welfare, Corsicana; and Will Bryant, Barry.

Mrs. Campbell said the wife of Hollifield asked her (Mrs. Campbell) to go to her (Mrs. Hollifield's) house in the morning—that she (Mrs. Hollifield) was afraid to go to him.

Mrs. Ellis said that Hollifield had been found to be "economically blind" in April, 1948, and had received a blind pension from the state from May, 1943, until his death.

Bryant said Hollifield's sight was bad.

Attorneys indicated Wednesday morning that the defendant will take the stand in his own behalf during the afternoon.

The state was still presenting evidence at the noon recess. Charles T. Banister, county attorney, said at noon he did not know when the state might rest its case.

Court attaches expressed the opinion that evidence would be concluded today or tonight. The prosecution is being conducted by Banister and Seton T. Holsey, assistant county attorney. The defendant is represented by Doyle Pevhouse and State Senator George O. Nokes Jr.

Tuesday Afternoon.
 Six witnesses testified at the Tuesday afternoon session for the state. They were Emma Larimore, Barham, Mrs. Herman Barham and Seth Grant, Blooming Grove city marshal, to whom the defendant surrendered a pistol following the shooting.

The jury is composed of W. M. Theford, Corsicana; W. W. Price, Corsicana; Johnny Hestard, Pough, Carl Wells, Corsicana; S. W. Spruill, Dawson; L. B. O'Neal, Dawson; H. S. Bell, Rice; G. H. Ware, Rice; L. D. Haddley, Rice; C. P. Priddy, Dawson; O. W. Cannon, Dawson; and Roger Johnston, Barry.

Twenty-five additional talesmen were summoned to augment the regular jury panel Tuesday.

 He said most of the editors are meeting well their responsibility as a link "between the American people and world affairs" by informing them "well and completely."

But, he added, "I am sorry to say a few are meeting it badly." He did not name any names, but went on to say:

"Foreign policy is not a matter for partisan presentation. The facts about Europe or Asia should not be twisted to conform to one side or the other of a political dispute. Twisting the facts might change the course of an election at home, but it would certainly damage our country's program abroad."

In Berlin, in Czechoslovakia, in the Balkans and in the Far East, the president charged, the Russians and their allies "have proved, time after time, that their talk about peace is only a cloak for imperialism."

The president said he had asked Secretary Acheson to take action to "improve and strengthen our whole range of information and educational services."

This more "effective national effort," he added, will require the imagination and energies of private individuals and groups throughout the country. He continued:

"Another major part of our effort must be carried out through our great public information channels—newspapers and magazines, radio and motion pictures," the president asserted.

"We must strive constantly to break down or leap over barriers to free communication wherever they exist."

"I am confident that the American press can and will make a tremendously useful contribution toward finding new solutions."

Communist propaganda, Truman went on, is "so false, so crude, so blatant" that Americans wonder "how men can be swayed by it." It is effective, he said, because in some countries people do not have free access to accurate information, do not hear our broadcasts or read our newspapers, and are fed only propaganda.

The president said "we can not run the risk that nations may be lost to the cause of freedom because their people do not know the facts."

He suggested that all governmental and private information spreaders be aided by the word-of-mouth story of businessmen-to-businessmen, abstract of farmer-to-farmer, trade unionist-to-foreign worker.

 vice president of the molasses firm.

Pollard brought the name of Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, Presidential military aide and former friend of Maragon, into the trial. He said he first met Maragon at a party given in Vaughan's honor in Milwaukee. Senate investigators have said the party was given by a brewery.

As for Maragon, Pollard testified:

"I asked him for his help and he agreed to assist us."

He said he believed the agreement was to take care of "whatever expenses he incurred" on behalf of Allied Molasses.

He said his records show that Maragon was given $500 by a cashier's check, another $500 later by his personal check and that he paid a $168 hotel bill Maragon ran up in Washington. Ross testified that he gave Maragon $100 in cash in New York. All this was late in 1948.

Irving Goldstein, Maragon's lawyer, bored in on the $500 cashier's check. He got Pollard to say that he knew Maragon was looking for funds for the Democratic party.

Irving Goldstein, Maragon's lawyer, bored in on the $500 cashier's check. He got Pollard to say that he knew Maragon was looking for funds for the Democratic party.

He said he believed the agreement was to take care of "whatever expenses he incurred" on behalf of Allied Molasses.

He said his records show that Maragon was given $500 by a cashier's check, another $500 later by his personal check and that he paid a $168 hotel bill Maragon ran up in Washington. Ross testified that he gave Maragon $100 in cash in New York. All this was late in 1948.

BOYLE'S Column

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—What convinces me that women are superior to men is their ability to enjoy a brief illness. For years I have known that women, pound for pound, are better looking than men, wiser, more durable of purpose and less susceptible to bankruptcy. But it is their resilience of spirit under the test of illness that shows how much better adjusted they are to life. This truth dawned upon me during the last two days. I spent them in bed, racked by assorted chills and fevers. When I awoke the other morning and saw more than the usual number of spots before my eyes, I began to groan and call for my life insurance policies. "Here, Rover, quit acting like a dumb animal," said my wife, Frances, sticking a thermometer into my mouth. It was useless for me to protest that I didn't want any food, medicine, sympathy or marigolds. You can't cheat a good wife out of the fun of nursing her husband. "The trouble with you men," said Frances, plumping up the pillow, "is that you don't get any rest or pleasure of being sick. And that is true. Our conscience won't let us. But women make a game of it. They keep their faces prettied up; they wear a fancy bed jacket; they love flowers and more flowers in the room; they tease their innards with fine soups and salads; they keep the radio going and the telephone handy. When they do rise at last, they don't feel shaky-legged or guilty or mad at their own weakness. They are refreshed and renewed, ready to get a new hair-do or go dancing. Well, this time I did everything Frances said. In fact, I relaxed so much that finally she said suspiciously, "I do believe you are enjoying yourself. It's time you got up and started earning me a living again. And, to tell the truth, the thought

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Commission Delays Vote on Livestock

Prospective Buyers Asked For Proposals On $300,000 Bonds

After hearing the city health officer, Dr. Will Miller, say, "It's either be sanitary or not sanitary, filth and disease go together," the Corsicana city commission Tuesday postponed action on the proposed livestock ordinance until Monday at 2 p. m.

No vote was taken on the ordinance at the regular session because the commissioners requested City Atty. Julius Jacobs to make several revisions. Mayor Hubert T. Braselton asked the commissioners for their opinions on the ordinance and all expressed favorable remarks regarding the regulating of livestock, etc. in the city.

Probably the most important action taken by the commission was the passing of a motion offered by Commissioner Edgar Rittersbacher. He moved that the commissioners endorse a city-wide election for a vote on the issuing of $300,000 worth of revenue bonds for sewer improvements. His motion was seconded by Commissioner J. E. Davant. The city secretary was authorized to notify bond salesmen to present their proposals at the Monday meeting.

Mayor Braselton appointed the commissioners to their various assignments which are as follows: Street and sanitary, Rittersbacher; water and light, A. H. Bonner; fire and police, Davant; finance, park and cemetery, Fred Prince; ordinance, Bonner and Davant; building and grounds, Prince and Rittersbacher; mayor pro tem, Davant.

Others who spoke regarding the livestock ordinance included: Loretta Galliard, sanitary technician; C. A. Purcell, veterinarian; Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson.

Wilson, whose wagon and stock yard will be affected by the ordinance, stated he thought something

Progressive Achievement Award Is Presented Tolosa In Kaufman County

TOLOSA, April 19 — (Spt) — Friendly, neighborly Tolosa — a community of 45 families in Kaufman county — was much richer to-day in pride, spirit, enthusiasm and happiness.

They were rewarded Tuesday night for a year's progressive achievement.

A crowd many times the little hamlet's population jammed the old school building here — now a community center — and paid tribute to the small citizenry's accomplishments and outstanding record.

Check Is Presented

A $500 award was presented to the community as a climax to a state-wide contest sponsored by the Texas A. and M. Extension Service and Farmer-Stockman magazine, whose editor, Ferdie Deering, presented the check.

Some of the accomplishments, as explained by Kaufman County Agent Reagan Brown, were:

1. Beautification of buildings and all surroundings, landscaping and painting.
2. Homes are getting television sets.
3. An all-weather road built with community labor to the village's ancient cemetery.
4. Youths were provided recreation facilities.
5. An excellent community spirit.

Brown added that Tolosa had no divorce, no arrest, no fire, accident or tragedy during a 12-month period.

Some 50 persons packed the community center. A dinner was served prior to the program.

Among the guest were Senator and Mrs. George Nokes of Corsicana; and G. G. Gibson, director of the Extension Service, and numerous county officials.

Two former mayors of Corsicana and the present municipal chief, Hubert Braselton, paid tribute and honor Tuesday to Travis Fullwood, who for over 10 years has served the city as street and sanitary commissioner.

Fullwood will be succeeded by A. High praise for the outgoing commissioner was voiced at the weekly luncheon of the Lions Club of which Fullwood is a member.

Brief talks were given by former Mayor John C. Calhoun and John Murphree, both of whom held the position of doing a fine job for the city.

Mayor Braselton presented Fullwood a pen and pencil set given from the city hall employees and tool house employees. Afterwards Fullwood expressed his appreciation for the honor given him.

Calhoun declared that in the 40 years he had been acquainted with the municipality, he knew of no city in Texas that has never had a better government.

Murphree described the many city improvements since the war and bugged days and attributed many of the more recent ones to the work of Commissioner Fullwood.

Chorus Is Featured

The two-part program Tuesday also featured a junior high choral group of some 18 voices under the direction of Mrs. Collin Harris.

The chorus sang five numbers.

Approximately a dozen guests attended the luncheon. Good citizens from the high school were Helen Griffin and Orrie Harris.

How they had used the information received at the last meeting.

Mrs. E. B. French, county delegate, gave a report on the district meeting at Carthage. She was assisted by the other ten members who also attended the meeting.

An invitation to attend a meeting in the home of Mrs. Charles Collins at Blooming Grove on the afternoon of April 26 was accepted.

All members are asked to meet at the school at 12:30 that afternoon so that the group can go, together.

A May Day party will be given in the home of Mrs. R. C. Butler on the night of May 1. Each member of her family are asked to attend.

The sewing demonstrators, Mrs. C. Armstrong and Mrs. Troy Holcomb showed the ladies how to hem a circular skirt. Secret sister gifts were passed out, and the hostess, Mrs. A. M. Shows, served refreshments.

The next meeting will be on May 2 in the home of Mrs. Holcomb.

The Purdon H-D Club. The Purdon Home Demonstration Club met in regular session on Monday, April 17 in the home of Mrs. E. B. French.

The club plans to observe National Home Demonstration Week with a program-tea and work display in the recreation room of the school on May 4 and 5.

The 4-H girls will take part in the program.

The following committee for arrangements was appointed: Mrs. E. B. French, president; Mrs. W. W. McCraw, secretary; Mrs. W. W. McCraw, treasurer; Mrs. W. W. McCraw, publicity; Mrs. W. W. Site For Tigers Football Camp Is Sought By Club

A suggestion that the fair grounds east of Corsicana might be used for the training camp brought out the fact that sector is not now in the Corsicana school district.

It was decided that the club would ask the county school board to allow annexation of a triangular

The Dads extended a vote of thanks to the individuals and organizations who gave their services and equipment to re-sod, re-plant and re-level the Tiger Field gridiron. The various farm implement companies in the city were especially commended for their donation of equipment for that purpose. County Agent W. H. Walker and Jack Everheart, local soil conservation representative, and others who aided them were given a vote of thanks.

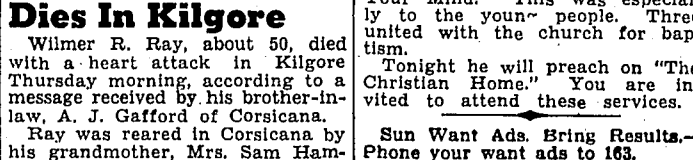

Miss Lola McClung was the leader for the afternoon. Continuing the study on "The Prayers of the Bible", she brought an interesting devotional on the prayer that Jesus taught his disciples to pray, while they were with him at the Sermon on the mount.

Following the business and study hour a pleasant social interlude was enjoyed by eleven members and one guest, Mrs. C. Thompson, the mother of the Rev. Carroll Thompson.

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

If you encounter Last Gale First, don't go into a routine that starts: "Give me your last name first." It's been done before. Just keep in mind that the First comes last.

The best way to avoid confusion is to take names one at a time. That system will stand you in good stead when you get to Oscar Oliver Over and Oliver Oscar Over.
